

Nine Girls Vie for Title in Pacifica Pageant

Full House Is Expected For Judging Program Set Saturday at Oceana

A capacity crowd is expected to be on hand in the auditorium of Oceana High School Saturday night for the eighth annual Miss Pacifica contest.

The beauty pageant will begin at 8 p.m.

Nine lovely Pacifica ladies are vying for the right to become the city's new reigning queen of beauty and charm.

At stake is a potpourri of prizes and merchandise awards for the winner.

The pageant will be highlighted by talent acts, swimsuit and evening gown competition as well as the premiere event of the evening—the final judging of the girls.

Lending a hand to the program will be Tiny Dryden, this year's Little League Princess.

For winning, Miss Pacifica will receive a traditional trophy, a $200 college scholarship, a $100 wardrobe allowance, the official Miss Pacifica crown, an engraved wristwatch as well as a raft of other gifts donated by merchants and the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization.

Prizes also will be awarded to the first and second runners-up and to Miss Personality.

Each of the 15 contestants will receive a finalist trophy, an engraved silver charm, a bathing suit, two complimentary theatre tickets and an official photograph.

The candidates and their sponsors are:

Charlotte Turner, Park Variety; Pat Gundran, Sea Bowl; Cathy H. C. K. I., Sun Valley Dairy; Janice Vermillion, Sea-view Tire and Brake; Sandy Kester, Nick's Rockaway Restaurant; Sharon Mershon, Super X Markets and Sherry Anderson, Oceanside Cleaners.

Admission to the pageant will be $1. Ticket information may be obtained by phoning 355-4122.

Colma Stable Ordinance Is Under Study

Colma town officials have begun work on an ordinance designed to prevent re-occurrence of a stable fire that took the lives of 38 horses last month.

A committee was formed last week of representatives of the Hillside Homeowners' Improvement Association, horse stable officers, Colma Health Officer Dean Lagomarsino and Veterinarian Dr. David Barnett.

Sitting in as advisers will be County Health Officer Reint Lingeman and State Humane Officer Paul Maxwell.

The committee will draft the ordinance for presentation to the Colma Town Council.

According to City Clerk Blanche Lagomarsino, the meeting to begin work on a new ordinance governing stables was planned long before the fire at the Holland Boarding Stables April 22.

Complaints about the operation of the Holland Stables were voiced by the Hillside Homeowners group before the fire.

Members charged the stables

PUBLIC HEARING HELD

Coaches, Board Agree on Pay Study

By LOUANNE HEATH

A second coaches' proposal has brought about a temporary halt in the debate over demands by various teacher groups in the Jefferson Union High School District over "extra pay for extra work."

The proposal, accepted by the district's board of trustees, was presented during a public hearing in the Little Theatre of Westmoor High School.

The hearing was attended by a large crowd of parents, teachers and coaches.

In essence, the coaches' proposal, outlined by Jefferson High School football coach, Joseph McGrath acting as a spokesman, accepted the district's proposal for a "study in depth" of the extra pay request providing certain conditions were met.

These, he said, included:

"The study group will consist of the Superintendent or his representative, one member from the AFT, one member from JUHSTA, two coaches, one male and one female, and one member at large, to be selected by his principal, from each of the four schools.

"That any salary adjustments which result from this study will be retroactive from July 1, 1964.

"That it is understood that we are coaching under protest, pending the results of the study.

"That a sufficient sum of money be set aside to cover any salary adjustments that will result from this study.

"Because a question has been raised concerning the legal scope of the contracts, all parties concerned will reserve the right to have those contracts examined in court, if deemed necessary, after the completion of the study.

"That the study be completed by September of 1964."

The evening began with a presentation by AFT president James Ballard, who spoke about the concept of extra pay where time and duty demands exceed the norm for teachers within the district.

"It was not too long ago that teaching was a 24-hour-a-day job, 365 days of the year," Ballard said. "Teachers were expected to come early, stoke the furnace and then drive the school bus."

We are not suggesting that this district asks its teachers to fire furnaces or drive buses, if they did we are not sure it could be fought legally. All that we are now requesting is that we move our wage policies into the 20th century.

"We see now that calling the proposal extra pay for extra work was an error. A teacher who teaches English composition may have to spend more time at her tasks than one who teaches 18th century English poetry.

"It is evident that the expression 'extra work' can not be clearly defined. Additional compensation for additional responsibility more clearly implies what we propose."

Also among the speakers during the first half of the hearing was Dr. John Bright, who ap-

D.C. Council Meets With Cow Palace City Requests Clarification Of Powers

By RON BATES

Daly City councilmen and Cow Palace Board of Directors passed the peace pipe Wednesday afternoon in an effort to end differences that had existed since the city annexed the Cow Palace last August.

With the threat of civil rights demonstrations at the Republican National Convention in July and an "Invasion of Beatles" in August, Daly City officials wanted their responsibilities regarding the state center spelled out clearly.

The city had been informed last November in a letter from Ed Diran, manager of the Cow Palace, that Daly City police must stay outside of the Cow Palace unless they are invited or requested to be there.

The "hands off" request has been rejected by Daly City councilmen and a department heads who feel the city would be liable in the case of a disaster or civil disturbance.

Last week's meeting consisted mainly of Daly City officials doing the talking and the Cow Palace directors doing the listening.

At the conclusion of the session, however, the directors promised co-operation and a thorough study of a written statement of Daly City demands.

A list of Daly City demands was drafted up and forwarded to the directors for action. The demands, however, have to be sent to state officials for further approval, according to Board Chairman L. C. Smith.

Daly City Mayor Michael De Bernardi said the directors should have been kept informed of problems that have been the subject of several letters to the Cow Palace.

He said that with the Republican convention rapidly approaching the question of who

Student Tries Suicide After Calling Police

By DON MILLER

A Daly City High School junior was being held today on a suspicion of murder charge after he confessed to police that he had shot his father a week ago yesterday, then attempted to commit suicide Monday.

The youth, Michael Kelley, 17, of 112 East Molke Street, was in satisfactory condition in Peninsula Hospital, recovering from a self-inflicted bullet wound in his upper stomach.

Investigators said the boy had admitted shooting his father, James Kelley, about 40, seven times with a .22 caliber rifle.

The father, divorced about four years ago, and the son had been living in an apartment at the East Molke Street address.

The youth was being questioned on his activities between the time his father was shot and the attempted suicide. Investigators said the youth had been in and out of the apartment since the shooting.

Daly City Det. Lt. John Walsh, in charge of the investigation, said the boy told him the shooting last Tuesday had followed a heated argument.

He added that the argument apparently had been about the youth's studies at school.

The younger Kelley, a student at Jefferson High School, was described by Assistant Principal Thomas Redmond as someone who had the ability but was "an under-achiever—he wasn't really trying." Redmond said the youth was receiving failing grades.

According to Walsh, at 4:45 p.m. yesterday, the youth telephoned Broadmoor police and reported a shooting at his apartment. The call was referred to Daly City police who sped to the scene.

At the apartment, they found the youth lying on the floor with the rifle nearby. Behind the closed door of the kitchen, they discovered the body of the elder Kelley, lying under an opened sleeping bag.

A cursory examination revealed eight puncture holes in the body. However, because of the advanced state of decomposition, it could not be determined which of the puncture holes were entry or exit.

The youth told investigators that he had shot himself between the time he had phoned Broadmoor police and the arrival of Daly City officers.

Walsh said the youth had been living with his father for the past two months. Previously, he had been living with his mother, Mrs. Patricia Kelley, and his five-year-old sister, at 736 Niantic Avenue.

At Jefferson, Redmond said the youth had an excellent attendance record and was rarely tardy.

However, he added, the youth

Valley Park Annexation Is Approved S.S.F. Council Asks D.C. to Curb Dust

South San Francisco's hard-driving City Council Monday night pounded its way through a 42-item agenda in an hour and a quarter session ranging from bayside bonds to Daly City's dust.

Early minutes of the action saw the council close public hearings on annexation of the 71-acre Valley Park area along El Camino Real between Mission Street and Hickey Boulevard, and the library site property on West Orange.

The Valley Center drive did not get through unscathed. Landless Ted E. Everson protested the annexation because it will citty the property he now uses to corral his horses. A local attorney engaged Mayor Patrick Ahern in a verbal skirmish over possible zoning for the property, until his questions

New Plans Asked for Apartments

Plans for an apartment house development, Chester Manor, were held up by the Daly City Planning Commission after they had been sent back to the commission by the City Council last week.

The plans, presented by Argyle Investment Company of San Francisco, are for a series of apartment houses between Chester and Hoffman Streets and Hillside Boulevard and Sylvan Street.

The council rejected the original proposal after members of the Hillside Homeowners' Improvement Club voiced objection to the developer's plan to close off Hoffman Street and create a number of cul-de-sacs.

Club members told the council they felt the street was needed in the event of fire and also for traffic circulation.

Commissioners felt the developer should dedicate 20 to 30 feet along Hoffman Street to increase the street right-of-way. Although the street is a dedicated street, its right-of-way width

BROWN ACT CITED

Coast Meet Held In Private Home

Pacifica city councilmen were informed by City Manager Karl Baldwin last week that the city's Community Safety Committee had met illegally in a private home.

Only three of the committee's seven members showed up at the start of the session in the private home and a fourth arrived later.

The meeting, according to one source, had been called by "city hall."

City Attorney Conrad Reich commented:

"There is no excuse for a public meeting being held in a private home."

He added that he was preparing a memo to all city commissioners and committees, outlining provisions of the Brown Act, which prohibits meetings of public bodies in private homes.

In other action, the council retained Consulting Engineer Edgar A. Griswold to prepare plans and specifications for replacing the collapsed Sharp Park outfall line and to remedy any mistakes in the existing Linda Mar line.

Griswold had previously been hired by the council to explore the causes of the Sharp Park line collapse and to recommend a remedy.

Reich told councilmen he is continuing his research into the

S. F. Family He Roused

A Daly City resident last week alerted a sleeping San Francisco family from its smoke-filled house and helped the mother and father and their five children, from the building.

Kjell Havneras of 24 Carmel Avenue, told authorities he was driving past the house when he noticed smoke pouring from it.

Havneras stopped his car, ran to the house and pounded on the door. When he failed to get any response, he broke a rear window, climbed into the house and roused the family.

He was treated later for smoke inhalation at Alameda Emergency Hospital.

The fire at the Holland Stables was apparently caused by sparks from a truck used to carry feed for horses, fire officials reported.

Sparks smoldering in the hay burst into flame around 9 p.m., about two hours after George Holland, owner of the stables, had left for the night.

The boy was absent a week ago Monday but reported for classes the following day, the day of the shooting.

He did not report to school the day after the shooting or for the rest of the week.

Redmond said a counselor called the mother's home Thursday and again Monday and was told Monday by Mrs. Kelley that the youth was living with his father but that she would see that the boy returned to school.

Walsh said that the father had been employed by the Crown Cork and Seal Company at 2650 Bayshore Boulevard in Daly City but apparently had been dismissed as of last Friday.

Walsh said that neighbors and other occupants of the building in which the father and son lived had been questioned but that no one had reported hearing any shooting.

JEFF HIGH BOARD

The board of trustees of the Jefferson Union High School district has received a comprehensive study report on class size of one of the district's two teacher organizations.

The study, prepared by the Jefferson Union High School District Teachers Association (JUHSDTA), was summed up for trustees by Llew Reese, a member of the association.

In the report, heavy emphasis was laid upon the fact that the quality of education depended, in a large degree, upon the size of classes and that the current practice of budget-computation is totally inadequate from a teaching standpoint.

"This is a very serious problem. The fact that this is not an emotional presentation doesn't mean that this is not a grave situation," Reese said. And he added:

"The current district policy limits class size to 29 students but in actual practice we are able to cite case after case where the class size is nearer 40 students.

"Most often we find this in remedial English classes, the social sciences and mathematics where, ideally, we would have the smallest classes."

Reporting on action taken by the teachers' group, Reese explained to the board that experts had been brought in to study the situation and their opinions, in agreement with those of the classroom instructors, were that there is simply not enough to properly house the district's more than 5,000 secondary school students.

"We are constantly studying this and looking for solutions," Reese said, "and we strongly urge the members of this board to join with us in an attempt to find a suitable solution to overcrowded classes."

Tennis Story Gains $100 For Mitchell

Westmoor High School senior George Mitchell has been awarded $100 in the sports category of a recent San Francisco Press and Union League journalism awards competition.

Mitchell, son of Mrs. Mary Mitchell of 263 South Mayfair Avenue in Daly City, placed second in the sports category for a story on tennis.

His award was one of nine financial awards offered to contestants from 83 high schools in Northern California. He had to submit five other supporting newspaper stories to win the award.

The award was made at a league luncheon attended by Westmoor news advisor Doris Lindfors and the co-editors of the school newspaper, The Rampage, Sherry Rosen and Sheila Stavish.

Mitchell was the sixth Westmoor student to win recognition in the competition.

CONSTRUCTION workers here are currently spraying the walls of the upper floor with gypsum and a few of them are missing the wall and getting themselves. It's very entertaining to watch a few ghost-like faces walking around mysteriously on the steps over our heads during brunch. And more than once this scene has caused near-hysteria.

Speaking of construction, the outline of the top floor is filling in rapidly as is the girls' gym on the other side of the pool. Juniors on down are going to be able to use a large room on the upper floor next year—almost like another multi-use room, except that it will be partitioned into small seminar rooms. This should be especially invaluable for social studies classes.

THE FRENCH CLUB has a lot of well-publicized fun planned for its members—such as an excursion into The City to see "America, America," a very foreign film. After that, members are going to have a party—not the same night—and in between they're planning another excursion, but they're not sure just exactly what it's going to be as yet.

Seniors recently voted for the Queen of the Senior Ball. Results will be announced at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel Friday—the night of the Ball. All senior girls were eligible and each voter could write in five names. The girl with the most write-ins will be named queen. Four others will be her attendants.

MR. CODER and several seniors celebrated the recent national law day by going to a mock trial, staged by the San Mateo County Bar Association. The case concerned dragging, and the seniors who attended found it interesting and informative.

They decided that the defense attorney was the most entertaining—in a serious sort of way. He lost the case, mainly through the efforts of an experienced witness from the police force.

Trophies are to be awarded to members of Tau Omega who qualified for the National Forensic League. Degrees of honor, merit and excellence will be bestowed on those deserving them. Jeannie Halcomb will receive the Degree of Excellence. This is an individual honor and only one person from Terra Nova can receive it.

Fashion Fair Tea to Be Presented at Westmoor

The Westmoor High School cafeteria will become a county fairgrounds tomorrow at 3 p.m. when the Westmoor homemaker department presents a fashion-fair tea as a finale to the school P-TA program.

More than 110 Westmoor students will model their creations against a county fair background. The setting will include a cotton candy stand, flower booth, fortune teller, and two live Westmoor rams, played by Margie Avendano and Ada Hernandez.

The set was designed by senior Julie Clevenger and constructed by woodshop students under the direction of their instructor, Dominick Polillo.

Commentators Jane Wilson, Lynda Brown, and Rose Barone, will describe the fashion creations. Music by Ardi Rice, under the supervision of Howard Loeffler, will set the mood.

Featured as participants at the fair will be blue ribbon preserve winners, cake baking contest winners, flower show hostesses and sewing contest winners. In the last named category.

Mrs. Artemis Green is heading a committee of mothers and Westmoor students planning the event. Tickets at $8.50 may be obtained by calling Mrs. Green at PLaza 8260.

Graduation will be Friday evening, June 12.

WE'VE PUT off writing this column until the prep track season's end because we wanted to prove a point, the point being that Terra Nova track coach Dennis Lanterman could field a third place squad and still call them "gr-r-r-eat."

Last year, Lanterman's charges were the NPL's track and field and cross-country champs (the cross-country squad was ranked fourth nationally), but he never once came up with a more voracious "gr-r-r-eat" than he did at any time this year in describing his boys.

Lanterman, you see, is a phenomenon among his coaching brethren — an optimist. He's possibly the only coach ever created by God with a perennial smile on his face; one of the few who ever admits he has a good squad, or who's willing to climb a limb for even a mediocre team.

Other coaches excuse their teams because of a lack of the knowledge of that cliché called basics; or the boys are green, or out of condition, or there are injuries or ineligibilities, or stars aren't out because they're helping to support an ailing grandmother, or the coach just can't evaluate until he sees them under game conditions, and you know the rest.

BUT NOT so with Lanterman. His little bag of adjectives is open and ready for action at any time of day or night.

Say hello to him, and he won't answer, "Hi," or "What's doin'," but "Gr-r-r-eat," and follow with a prepared list of new records newly set, even if they have to be "quickest boy into the shower room," or "first guy to break a leg on the high jump."

Don't get the wrong idea. Lanterman is no nut. He's perhaps the most knowledgeable track coach in the local league, certainly the hardest worker. There is a method to his adjectives, because he not only tells the press that everything's great, he not only tells himself that everything's great, but he tells the kids they're great, whether they win, lose, or he's never even seen them run before.

What this applied psychology has done, has not, surprisingly, given any Terra Nova athletes the fat head, but has, conversely, convinced more than one fair athlete that he is great, and spurred him to at least competency.

We remember when Terra Nova, then officially called Oceana and sharing Westmoor's building with the Rams on a split session until the new schools were built, was continually setting "records," or so the kids were telling us.

WE THOUGHT it sort of odd that such a neophyte team would be setting so many records, so, out of curiosity, checked into the matter.

They were setting records! Being a new squad, everything they did was, naturally and logically, a new record, and Lanterman pointed this out to them.

So the first kid to run the 100-yard dash for what was then Oceana (so what if it was an 11.2 clocking?), did, indeed, set a school record, and Lanterman made him believe it. He went into his next race a record holder and stood high enough to perhaps psyche a more experienced runner out of winning.

Lanterman makes kids believe they can win, and more often than not, they do, whether they're capable of it or not. Lanterman's unique technique has worked for him, and he runs it into the ground — and has yet to hit bottom in his bottomless pit of enthusiasm, which invariably rubs off on even the lowliest freshman distance runner who couldn't trot 100 yards without drawing a deep breath when he turned out for the team.

As we've mentioned, we held this column until the end of the season to see how Terra Nova finished after a year which would not have made a lot of coaches enthusiastic. Well, Lanterman thinks his third place 1964 squad is just "gr-r-r-eat."

WE SEE THE Dodgers have done it again. Signed a California prospect while the Giants sit by with out-of-state products while residents of the state which produces more major leaguers than any other in the nation.

This boy happens to be a real localite, Barry Krohn, of Westmoor and College of San Mateo.

Barry, who'll report to Pocatello, Idaho, is an outfielder-pitcher, but will play the outfield as a pro because of a pretty good looking bat to go with size and strength.

Krohn was signed by Dodger scouts Bill Brenzel, the Northern California LA scout, and Dick Murray, who handles the Bay Area.

Murray is the man who, a decade and more ago, launched San Francisco's Sacred Heart into a city baseball domination which has rarely been slowed since. He's primarily responsible for the development of Kansas City's big Jim Gentile, who hit and pitched Dick's early '50's teams to three consecutive city championships.

Another local boy making good in a very big way is San Bruno's Wally Bunker, who did his pitching for Capuchino.

Barely a year out of prep school, Wally's thrown a one-hitter at Washington and missed a shutout against hard-hitting Detroit because of a teammate's error.

Funny thing. We watched him pitch a game a couple of years ago from behind a backstop, and could have sworn we would have been belted heck out of him. Guess the kid's improved.

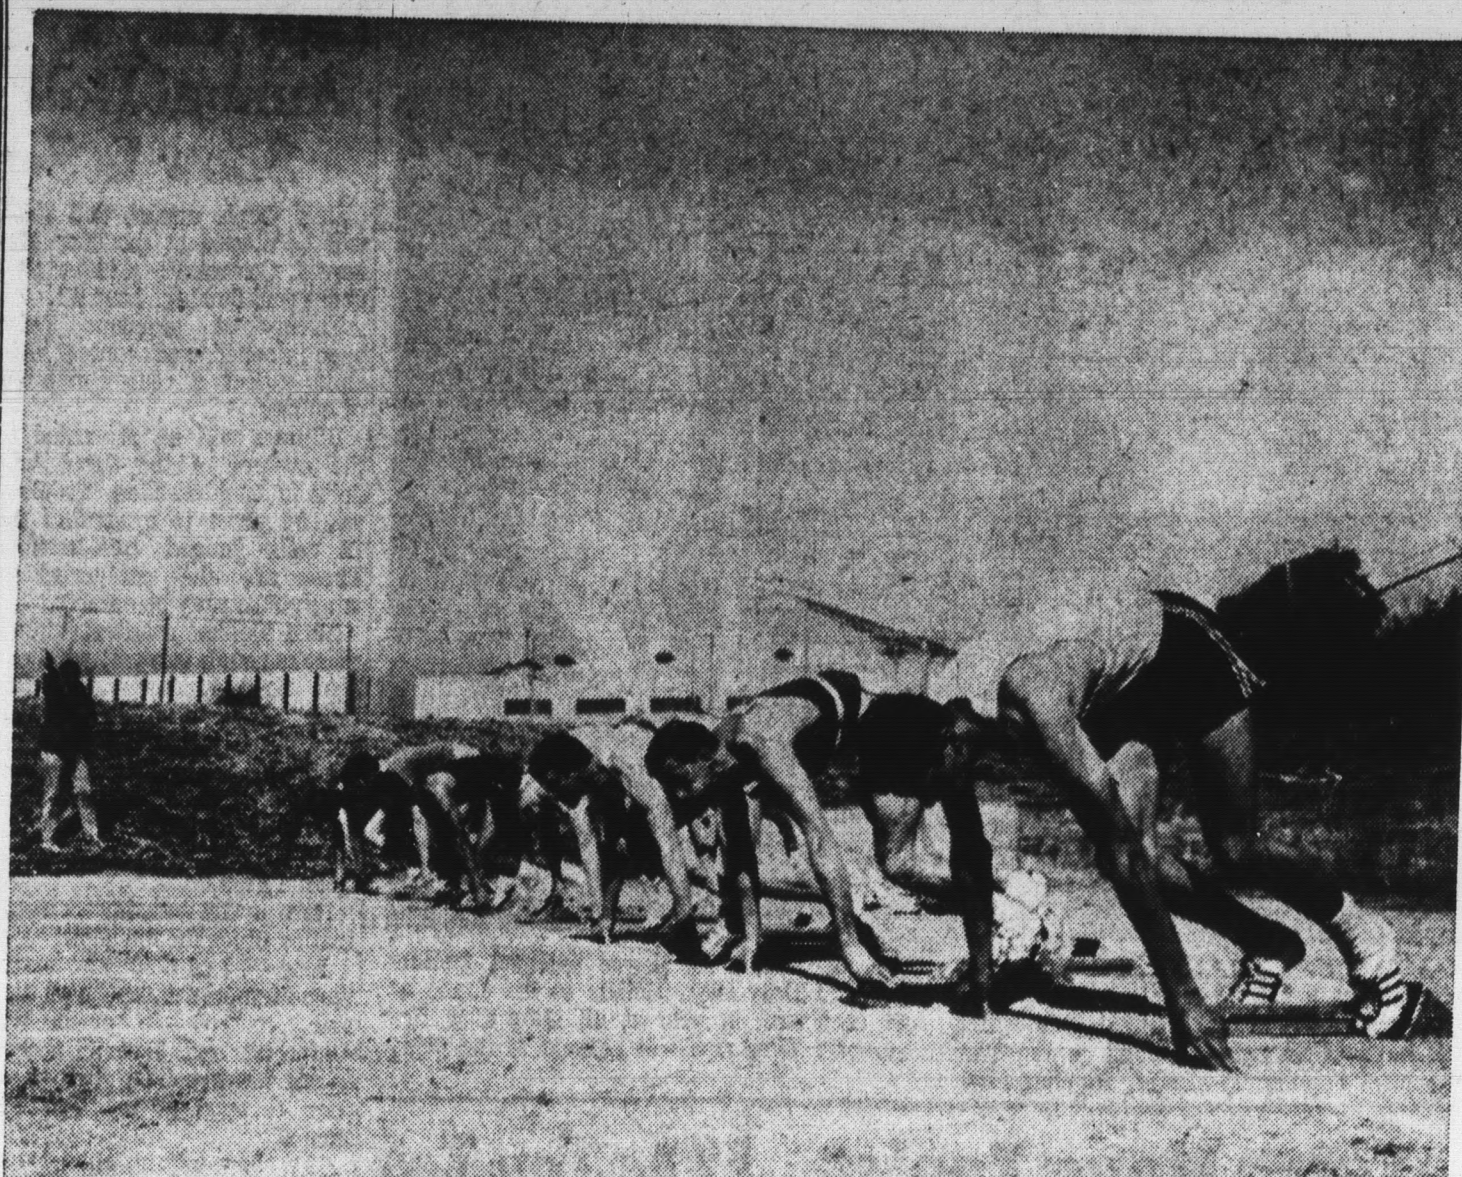

WITH THE amount of votes Westmoor Athletic Director Tony Giammona drew in his unsuccessful but highly promising race for councilman, it's suddenly dawned on us that this could be the new Joe Verducci.

SPEAKING of Verducci, don't be alarmed if, in coming suddenly upon you, he calls you "coach." Joe never forgets a face, but has problems with names when he has to think fast.

Babe Ruth cured the same problem by calling everybody "kid." We liked Ruth's solution to the problem because it was more practical. You can never get in trouble calling a woman "kid." But "coach?" Or, even, "Coachess?"

For what it's worth, Coach Joe, call all females "beautiful." Follow that line, and even Jean Fessler will vote for you.

'On Your Mark, Get Set ...'

POISED AT the starting line are these hurdlers competing in the 180-yard low hurdles of the Class A meet in the North Coast Section Division II track championship at Jefferson High School Saturday. Carlmont High School's third place finish in the meet was the highest any Peninsula school recorded. Jefferson wound up 18th and Westmoor 19th.

NPL Fares Badly in Meet

North County schools finished far back in the running in the North Coast Section Division II track and field championship meet at Jefferson High School Saturday.

Only Jefferson and Westmoor scored team points and those were only good enough to give Jefferson an 18th place and Westmoor, the North Peninsula League's regular season champion, a 19th place in the final team standings.

The Carlmont High School Scots, hurt by the absence of their three best sprinters, stretched available talent almost to the breaking point in an all-out effort to win the title. But their "make-do" efforts finally caught up with them, however, in the last event on the day's program and Carlmont had to settle for third place in team scoring behind Wilcox and Sunnyvale.

The third place was the highest any Peninsula High School finished.

Carlmont finished second in the 880 relay when John Figueroa, Sunnyvale's outstanding sprinter, wiped out a two-yard deficit on the anchor leg to win the event for the Jets. Sunnyvale, getting two first places from Figueroa in the sprints, tied Wilcox with 26 points as the Scots finished with 24. Carlmont would have won the meet with a first in the relay.

The top five finishers in each event qualified for Saturday's North Coast Section championships at Leigh High School in San Jose, and Carlmont Coach Loren Lansberry could find some solace in the fact that his team led all qualifiers for the NCS competition with six places.

Figueroa was the outstanding athlete of the meet, winning two sensational man-to-man battles in the dashes with Pacific Grove's one-man gang, Johnny Johnson.

Figueroa edged Johnson by a yard in a wind-aided, 9.6 100 and held an equally significant edge in the 220 with a 21.3 clocking around a turn.

Johnson single-handedly paced his team to fifth place with 18 points. Beside his runnerup finishes in the sprints, he set a Northern California best mark of 24-5/8 in winning the broad jump.

Carlmont scoring, in addition to the second place by the relay team, came off the efforts of vaulter Dennis Phillips, who won his specialty at 13-6 on fewer misses over Palo Alto's Steve Weed; Jack Sandin's third in the 880, a second place by Mike McCann in the mile and a fifth place in the two-mile by his brother, Martin.

Tom Grimm also added to the Scot total with a fourth place in the discus.

Andy Sears, Carlmont's best sprinter, was to compete in a runoff to see whether he can qualify for Saturday's NCS meet.

Burlingame finished highest of any Mid-Peninsula League team, tying for sixth place with 14 points. The Panthers' great middle distance runner, Mike Jacobs, ran one of the headiest races of the day in winning the 880 in 1:59.5. Burlingame's John Friedman was third in the pole vault with a 13-foot leap.

Hillsdale scored 11 1/2 points off Mike Hickey's best-of-life toss in the discus, a 178-6/8 effort that earned him second place behind Chuck Smart of Los Altos, who threw 180-9.

The Knights' Steve Kelly tied for first in the high jump with Max Lowe of Awalt, both at six feet even.

Other outstanding marks came in the mile, won by Mike Ryan of Wilcox in 4:20.6, Bob Brannen's 63-1/2 effort in the shot put, and a 49.3 clocking in the 440 by Lee Evans of Overfelt.

San Carlos won the Class B title with 25 1/2 points.

The meet was hampered by severe wind, cold and intermittent rains.

Aches and Pains Win Bowl Crown

The Aches and Pains team has won the championship of the YWCA Bowling League. The winners gained the title in a roll-off with the Belles. Both clubs were tied for first at the end of the regular season.

Members of the winning club are Barbara Kokalis, Laurel Lausmann, Renata Minetto and Alicia Viglizzo.

Bulldog Spikes Finish 3rd in Championships

College of San Mateo's track team, plagued by ill luck and poor weather nearly the entire season, found little change from that usual format Saturday in the Northern California Junior College Championships at Santa Rosa.

The Bulldogs finished third in the cold, wet, and windy meet, narrowly missing a second place finish to team champion Oakland when the Bulldog's Pat Bedford was injured in the pole vault.

Bedford tied for first place at 14-0 1/2, with Bill Stone of Fresno, severely crashed into the landing pit when his pole snapped on an attempted jump. He slammed to the ground, landing on his neck and shoulders and could not compete further.

Coach B-mny Wagner said that Bedford apparently was recovered from the accident today, but that his participation in Saturday's State JC meet at Modesto was still in doubt.

Had Bedford continued, he was a good bet for a first place that would have given CSM second in team standings.

Since he was unable to continue, he was awarded a second place on a referee's decision.

CSM first places were won by Al Rockwell, who conquered Oakland's Bill Johnson with a 14.6 victory in the high hurdles and Ted Winfield, who won the high jump at a relatively low mark of 6-3 3/4, taking off from a muddy approach.

The top four finishers in each event qualified for next Saturday's State meet, which will be run in conjunction with the California Relays at Modesto.

Wagner was optimistic about CSM's chance in that competition. The Bulldogs qualified eight berths for the meet. Oakland led the qualifying with 11 slots, while Sequoias also had eight qualifiers.

"We'll be in pretty good shape if Bedford is all right," Wagner said. "Without him, it will be kind of tough."

Warriors Clinch Tie for Crown

Leaders Top Oceana; Jeff Defeats Rams

By CRAIG BECKHEYER

There are still two games left in the 1964 North Peninsula League baseball pennant chase, but to all intents and purposes a champion has been crowned.

South San Francisco High School, getting only three hits, but bunching them all in one inning, stole seven bases en route to defeating Oceana, 4-1, at South City's Orange Park to clinch at least a tie for the diadem Friday.

Coach Bob Brain's Warriors thus retained their two-game lead over El Camino and Jefferson and could put a lock on the title today when they journey to Daly City to engage Westmoor. In the event the Rams upset the league leaders, the Tribe could still wrap it up Friday against last place Terra Nova.

In other league action, Westmoor was defeated by Jefferson, 2-1, and El Camino bombed Terra Nova, 8-1, to remain two games off the pace.

South S. F. got singles from Larry Sylvestri, Greg Jones and Jeff Jones in the third inning of their game with Oceana and made it good for four runs and the win.

The Warriors stole four bases in the inning on two double steals and were assisted by a walk and an error by the Sharks.

The NPL champs have stolen seven bases in their last two games. They pilfered 12 a week prior.

Jefferson got a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh from Mike Gutierrez to defeat Westmoor.

Westmoor had jumped to a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning, but the Indians tied it up in the bottom of the fifth when Jim Crane singled, then advanced around the sacks on two successive singles and an error on the catcher.

El Camino had little trouble in bouncing Terra Nova. The Colts scored in every inning but one and blasted out 10 hits.

The Tigers committed a glaring seven errors to aid their rivals with five unearned runs.

The Colts jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when they turned four hits (including a double by Mike Tyler) and one base on balls into a brace of counters.

They failed to score in the second or third but then came back with two in the fourth, one in the fifth and then wrapped it up with a three-run rally in the sixth, all unearned.

Len Hoffman of the OLPH Falcons and Steve Manis of the PAL Yankees locked pitching horns in a torrid hurling duel before the Yankees came away with a 2-0 victory. Manis allowed only one hit. Hoffman gave up four.

Midget National

The Pal Indians jumped out to a one game lead by downing the Holy Angels Colts, 1-0, behind the no-hit pitching of Ron Mosley and John Burrus.

Mosley left the mound with a sore arm after two innings and Burrus came on to pitch the final four.

Mosley, who stayed in the game, belted a homer in the bottom of the fifth to give the Indians the win.

The PAL Cardinals got a classy pitching effort from Don Smith who tossed a one-hit shut-out and fanned 15 batters to lead the Cards to a 3-0 win over the Misracks Greys.

Earlier, the Greys shut out the OLM Gals, 4-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Don Jones.

Midget Far West

The Hunts Donut Bombers, formerly the Misracks Bombers, held a half game first place margin this week after wins over the OLM Dons, 7-6, and the OLM Panthers, 11-4.

Joe Loroman and Don Miller shared the mound to give the Panthers only two hits. Bob Shields blasted a three-run homer.

The second place BYA Renegades eked out a 4-3 victory over the Trojans when Mark Mannina scored on a wild throw after singling earlier.

The Renegades also hold a 2-1 win over the Panthers but dropped a 6-5 decision to George Harrison Realty. In a game marked by homers by Don Giles of the Renegades and Gary Sarti of Harrison.

The OLPH Orioles, although trounced by the OLM Lions earlier, bounced back and walloped the OLM Panthers, 9-1. Brian Phemester's bases-loaded triple was the big hit of the game.

The Trojans lost an 8-7 squeaker to the Orioles. Dave Sierra drove in three runs on a homer in the fifth inning that gave the

Karate Demonstration Planned by Colma Club

A demonstration of karate by a visiting instructor of the University School of Karate in Japan will be held from 7 to 8 to-night at the Colma Karate Club meeting at 15 San Pedro Road.

Ralph Limon, club instructor, said the demonstration will be open to the public.

The visiting instructor is one of a group that has just finished a tour of Denmark to encourage karate as a sport in that country.

The group also has given exhibitions at the New York World's Fair, Washington, D. C., Florida and in other parts of California.

Appearances in the Bay Area have been arranged by Yoshiaki Ajari, a fourth degree black belt karate expert.

The demonstration will be one of the last demonstrations offered by members of the group before they embark for Japan from San Francisco.

The Colma Club meets twice a week at Columbo Hall. The Wednesday meeting is from 7 to 8 p.m. and a Saturday meeting is held from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Limon, a black belt holder, said a beginning class of karate will start soon. Membership dues are paid by the month.

He said the local club stresses karate as an art of body conditioning, stimulating blood circulation and toning up muscles.

More information may be obtained by calling PL 5-7833 or PL 5-7925.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Many people do not know that a person can lose all of his teeth—even though they are not decayed.

Gum disease can cause loss of all teeth, by leading to destruction of the bony sockets and the periodontal membranes that teeth need for support.

Gum disease is often the result of neglect that allows accumulation of tartar on teeth; if not removed, these accumulations start the processes that result in disease.

Regular checkups give the dentist an opportunity to guard against gum disease by cleaning and scaling the teeth. Even if the gum disease has started, your dentist, if given a chance, is usually able to prevent serious trouble.

In Northern Calif. Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that

New Fair Housing Group Is Organized in Pacifica

A new organization, formed to work toward the defeat of the fair housing initiative amendment on the November California ballot, has been formed in Pacifica.

The group is called Pacificans for Fair Housing. Co-chairmen are Andrew Field and Mike Haggerty. In an announcement outlining the group's aims, they stated:

"Fair housing can mean many things. We feel that by November, most Pacificans will see that fair housing, seen from almost any point of view, means a resounding defeat of the initiative amendment."

First meeting of the group's board of directors was held Sunday evening.

Other officials of the organization are George Simon, vice chairman; Mrs. Charles Olsen, secretary and James Foley, finance chairman.

Chairmen of committees are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edminster, Mrs. Rodney Dailey and Mrs. David Marvin.

The board of directors includes in addition to the aforementioned officials, the Rev. Vernon Alexander, Mrs. Karl Baldwin, Dr. Seymour Cain, Kathy Drake, William Henderson, Fred Lossman, Al Majchrazak, Mrs. Robert Power and Kenneth Strom.

Portrait Artist

BETH BATCHELOR, a well-known Bay Area artist, will sketch shoppers' portraits Friday evening as a feature of the closing of the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center's third anniversary celebration. She'll set up her easel in the window of Skyline Plaza Paints and will paint from 6 p.m. until closing time Friday.

3rd Birthday Celebration Ends Friday

The Skyline Plaza Shopping Center will wind up its month-long third anniversary celebration Friday night with the award of several prizes for lucky shoppers.

Top prize to be given away is a week-long, all-expense paid vacation for two to Honolulu via United Airlines DC-8 Jet Mainliner.

Second prize will be a weekend for two, all expenses paid, to Las Vegas.

Drawings for the prizes will be held at 8:15 and 9:15 p.m. Friday. Free tickets for the drawings will continue to be given away to shoppers at the center until 5:30 Friday afternoon.

Theme of the anniversary celebration is "Hawaiian Holidays."

To help carry out the theme Friday night, the Teddy Yap Trio, three native Hawaiian boys, will perform in the center, starting at 6.

They have played at such evening entertainment places as the Tonga Room in the Hotel Fairmont, the Starlight Roof of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, the Hawaiian Village in Honolulu and aboard the Matson liner Lurline.

For shoppers, they will offer an all-Hawaiian show.

Stubborn Grass Fire Is Stopped

Daly City firemen battled a stubborn grass fire between Chinese Cemetery and Winston Manor for two hours Sunday afternoon.

Battalion Chief Herbert Ritzmann said five engine companies were sent to the scene to encircle the fire and keep it from spreading to the Winston Manor subdivision to the south.

He said firemen used sacks and brooms to beat out the flames as well as water from the pumps. There are no hydrants in the area, he added.

Practice Session

TEDDY YAP of the Hawaiian Starlighters Trio warms up for an appearance of the trio Friday night at the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center. Prizes awarded in conjunction with the center's third birthday celebration will be given away at the center at 8:15 and 9:15 p.m. Friday. Top prize will be a week's vacation, all expenses paid, in Hawaii.

Birthday Prizes Listed

Here is a list of prizes to be given away at 8:15 and 9:15 Friday night by Skyline Plaza third birthday celebration, according to Ray Forca, association president.

Use Care Storing Furs for Summer

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau "Barometer"

NOW THAT the moths are flying, it is time to take care of that precious fur garment hanging in your closet!

Summer heat, which dries out the oils of the leather, and the ever present moth are the deadliest of enemies of a fur garment. Furs deteriorate from heat and should never be exposed to the direct sunlight.

Most furs do not fade, but undue or continual exposure to the sun will change the shade of dark furs and cause white fur to turn yellow.

Furs should be kept clean, as dirt and dust invite moths which destroy the fur and pelt. Unfortunately, it is often the woman who cherishes her furs and tries to give them the best of care, who unwittingly gives them to an irresponsible concern to be dry-cleaned.

Do not have furs dry-cleaned! The chemicals used in dry-cleaning dry out the natural oils and the oils that have been added to the pelt during the tanning process, resulting in premature drying out of skins and cracking of leather.

HANGING fur garments outside actually invites moth problems. Residents of wooded areas, especially in the sections where oak trees grow, have particular moth problems.

Moths are not as great a danger to a fur that is frequently worn as to the fur that is put away.

Furs can be safely stored for a short period of time in an airtight moth bag containing a moth preventative, such as crystallized camphor, naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene. This method is not recommended instead of commercial storage.

Storing is good for a fur if it is taken not to break the leather or split the seams. Fur coats should be hung on wide coat hangers to prevent the piercing of the skins due to the weight of the garment.

PLASTIC bags are not recommended for fur storage. Furs must breathe. If the preferred cloth fur bag is not available, a pillow slip for a stole, or a sheet for a coat, clipped with a clothespin and a hole for the clothes hanger is an excellent, cheap substitute.

Moisture will injure furs unless they are properly cared for. It is recommended that a damp fur be dried normally on a hanger. Do not dry near heat! If the leather has become water-soaked, the garment should be sent to a reliable concern for proper treatment.

A small rip, if neglected, can work into a jagged tear which may require an entire new skin. Fur garments should be checked over thoroughly for worn places and tears when put into storage so that the repair cost be minimized and maximum service obtained from the garment.

THE BETTER BUSINESS Bureau advises to deal only with reliable and established concerns. Proper storage and cleaning will increase the life of your fur and for a moderate charge your furs can be properly cleaned and given protection against fire and theft, as well as from moths and heat.

Many of the furriers will check over a garment for moths without charge. Summer storage can be had for as little as $4 for a $150 valuation. A number of furriers have a special in and out service which makes it possible for a customer to withdraw her fur from storage should a special occasion arise and return them later to storage without extra charge.

D.C. Resident Opens His Own Art Show at Library

Paintings by Paul J. Crowley of 88 Fairlawn Avenue, Daly City are now featured in a one man show at the Daly City Public Library at 275 Southgate Avenue, Daly City.

Each painting exhibited grew out of impressions that Crowley received from reading the works of Joseph Conrad.

Samuel Chandler, city librarian, commented: "Crowley's work seems to center around a theme that Conrad called the 'cleaved spirit,' what critics have termed the 'damaged soul.'"

"As Conrad was a pure realist, so Crowley's work can be rightly termed pure realism—yet, realism with passion." Crowley is an art teacher at St. Elizabeth High School in Oakland. His desire to paint came while he was studying design at San Francisco City College.

JEAN FREDRICK and Vita Fassler are young, energetic housewives with a dedicated sense of civic responsibility and the tenacity necessary to succeed despite the obstacles of lethargy and apathy.

More than a year ago while the two ladies were exceedingly busy caring for new babies, the idea of a Pacifica branch of the League of Women Voters came to them along with the awareness that Pacifica's mothers, like so many young suburbanites, were in danger of becoming intellectually stagnated unless something was done to extend their horizons and stimulate their interest in the world beyond the kitchen and laundry.

While the babies were growing, Jean and Vita were busy gathering information and formulating a program, which they hoped would interest the women of Pacifica. The idea of a league was an ambitious one and required a fantastic number of hours of preparation and research.

"We could see that this was going to be a big job," Mrs. Fassler said. "So, we decided that we wouldn't take on any other responsibilities for a year so that we could devote all our time to this undertaking. We have stuck to it pretty well."

In September, the two contacted the San Mateo League of Women Voters and the California state organizer for the league to see what could be worked out for Pacifica. After considerable soul-searching, it was decided that the area was not yet ready for a chapter of its own but that a unit, as a part of the San Mateo league was entirely feasible.

"We were very happy," Mrs. Fassler said, "especially in the light of the fact that this was the second attempt that had been made to get something going in Pacifica. The first attempt had to be abandoned despite valiant efforts on the part of its backers."

Since the first part of the year, the fledgling unit has begun to show real progress and membership has zoomed up to 18 regulars at meetings—a very enviable record that earned a special commendation for the group, presented by Mrs. Evelyn Kaplan, San Mateo Chapter League president, during the annual meeting of all the San Mateo units.

One of the more difficult problems facing the organizers was posed by the fact that the unit has a relatively young membership and baby sitters are a must if there is to be good participation. The problem has been partially solved by holding the meetings on the first and third Wednesdays of each month from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Surf Room of the Sea Bowl where a baby sitter is always available. Baby sitters for the meetings and special workshops that are held in San Mateo are still a problem but members attempt to trade off baby sitting chores so that a few of the members are free to take advantage of the additional training.

Because the unit is still in its formative stages, many Pacificans are not yet aware of its existence. But members are working hard to make its presence and influence felt. If you are interested in becoming a part of this dynamic unit you may call Mrs. Fredrick at 359-4076 or Mrs. Fassler at 359-4036 for additional information.

THE NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR is barely under way and already reports are in from North County residents who have seen it in its opening stages.

Thomas Harris, the San Bruno resident who is director of the Hunters' Point Boys' Club in San Francisco, is home with a once-in-a-lifetime experience to report.

In the East to attend a Boys' Club conference and see the fair, Harris was a member of a group who met and shook hands with President Lyndon B. Johnson on Mother's Day.

Mrs. Murray Freedman of Westlake spent a whirlwind week in the east visiting the fair, sightseeing aboard a new steamship and attending family reunions in New Jersey.

Mrs. Freedman was among 134 Californians who were flown to New York by the Zim steamship line to see the luxuries of the line's new liner, Shalom, for themselves before the ship begins plying its regular run between New York, Spain and the Middle East this summer. Members of the tour were wine and dined as they flew East aboard a chartered airliner and then entertained royally the next evening aboard the Shalom where cocktails were served before a sumptuous dinner and entertainment that followed until the wee hours of the morning.

While in the east, Mrs. Freedman visited with her sister, Mrs. Alphonse Alvino of New Jersey and other members of her family, many of whom she had not seen in more than four years. The entire Freedman family will go East in August, so all will have a chance to see the fair.

According to Mrs. Wiener, the proceeds will be used to help finance the temple's religious school. Each year the sisterhood contributes $2,500 toward the school's finances, Mrs. Wiener said.

Delightful door prizes have been secured by the committee for this year's affair and luncheon-goers are sure to be thrilled by the marble coffee table and the dazzling ruby and sapphire dinner ring that will be among the items awarded to members of the assembly.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

WITH SUMMER almost here and the subsequent plans for picnics and outings, it seems a good time to suggest some ideas for these days in the sunshine.

Cookies are always a favorite at home as well as on picnics. Though they seem to be especially nice at picnic time for they are so easy to pack and serve. And cakes, also, for they are easy to make and take.

This first cake surely does fill that bill—for it is easy to "bake and take."

LEMON CAKE

- 1 package yellow cake mix
- ¾ cup water
- 4 eggs
- ¾ cup cooking oil
- 1 package lemon gelatin

Put all ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Beat two minutes at medium speed in mixer and pour into generously greased 9 by 13 pan. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in 350-degree oven. While the cake is baking, mix together the following ingredients:

- 2 cups (scant) powdered sugar
- juice of two lemons

Immediately on taking the cake from the oven, poke four holes all through the cake (the more holes the merrier). Pour the sugar and lemon juice mixture over the hot cake and set aside to cool. The lemon juice and powdered sugar seeps down through the holes in the cake, making a moist lemony cake that stays fresh for days — if it lasts that long.

FIRST, among the cookie ideas, we'll suggest these butterscotch bars that use a cake mix as the base of the cookies. I'm all in favor of these quicker and easier ways to bake.

BUTTERSCOTCH BARS

- 1 package caramel cake mix
- 1 cup brown sugar
- ½ cup rolled oats
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 2 eggs
- ¾ cup water

Combine cake mix, brown sugar, rolled oats and nuts. Add eggs and water. Stir until well blended. Spread in well-greased 15 by 10 jelly roll pan. And sprinkle this topping over the batter:

TOPPING

- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 tablespoon sugar

Bake in 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

SINCE WE'RE talking about bar cookies, these coffee bars will make any picnic a little better.

COFFEE BARS

- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup hot coffee
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Cream together shortening and brown sugar and add egg; mix well. Stir in hot coffee. Sift together and stir in dry ingredients, then blend in the raisins and chopped nuts. Spread batter in a greased 9 by 13 pan. Bake in moderate oven (350-degrees) for 18 to 20 minutes.

Frost while warm with this icing: cream one cup confectioners sugar with enough soft butter and cream to make an icing of thin-spreading consistency. Add a quarter-teaspoon salt and a half teaspoon of vanilla.

Last but not least you can't go on a picnic without some kind of drop cookie and what is better than one combining raisins and rolled oats?

OATMEAL RAISIN ROUNDS

- 2½ cups flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup white sugar
- 2 unbeaten eggs
- 2 unbeaten eggs
- 2 cups rolled oats
- 1½ cups raisins
- ½ cup nuts, chopped

Sift the dry ingredients together. Cream the butter and sugar together and then add the unbeaten eggs. Beat well. Blend in the dry sifted ingredients and then stir in the rolled oats, raisins and nuts.

Shape by rounded teaspoonfuls into balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheets; flatten slightly with bottom of glass dipped in flour. Bake in 375-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes until golden brown.

YWCA Family Night Set

YWCA officials will explain details of a summer program for children 3 to 12 years old. Registration also will be taken for the YWCA camp, Timber-tall, open to girls in grades 7 through 12.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY,
COLMA, PACIFICA AND SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

Prelude to a Building

A SPADE for ground-breaking and a sign indicated the future home of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church on 87th Street in Broadmoor when this photo was taken in late 1951. The church was known then as Community Presbyterian Church. The congregation will celebrate the 15th anniversary of the church Sunday during a regular morning worship service and at a luncheon afterward.

Broadmoor Presbyterian To Note 15th Birthday

Broadmoor Presbyterian Church will observe its fifteenth birthday Sunday.

The observance will be marked by a guest sermon by the church's organizing pastor, the Rev. John A. Glasse, and by a luncheon after the morning worship service.

The topic of Reverend Glasse's sermon will be: "The People Had a Mind to Build."

He and Mrs. Glasse are residents of Citrus Heights, Calif., where Mrs. Glasse heads a day nursery school. She will also be present at Sunday's service.

Reverend Glasse came to the area in 1948 from the First Church of Alameda to be the organizing pastor of Broadmoor Presbyterian.

He was called through the New Work Committee of the Presbytery of San Francisco. The Lakeside Presbyterian Church at Stonestown released its original building

REV. JOHN A. GLASSE
To Give Sermon

This building, a quonset hut, was located at the front of the property on Eighty-seventh Street until the sanctuary was started at this site in 1956.

The church's educational building of three floors was built in 1952 with the social hall serving as the sanctuary.

When the congregation was organized in 1948, there were 61 charter members of which five remain today: Mrs. Peter Rizzo, Mrs. Chloe Tannehill, Mrs. Robert Mattson, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Divers.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Lapp also charter members, last month joined a congregation in Hayward.

Reverend Glasse served eight years as pastor until February 28, 1957.

The Rev. Dr. William Haberts, a long-time pastor in previous years at the Grace Presbyterian Church in Daly City, became an interim pastor for six months through August of 1957.

At that time the Rev. Herbert Tweedie began his present ministry. The church now has more than 600 members.

Community Baptist Will Hear Rev. Mike Friedman

The Rev. Mike Friedman, a well-known evangelist, will hold three services at Westlake Community Baptist Church Sunday.

At the 11 a.m. morning worship service, he will offer a sermon on the topic, "On the Jericho Road."

At 6:30 p.m., he will conduct a youth forum service and at 7:30 p.m. he will speak on: "What Is This Thing Called Love."

Reverend Friedman in his youth was considered a top high school student. He played variety baseball, wrestled and directed drama productions. He won a Gold Key honor award upon graduation.

In 1938, he won a Hal Roach stage and screen contest.

After serving in the Army during World War II, he worked in the electrical wholesale business in Santa Barbara for 11 years and then entered the ministry.

B'nai Israel to Hold Meeting

Congregation B'nai Israel will hold its semiannual membership meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday evening at 67 Los Banos Avenue, Daly City. The sisterhood will hold its general membership election meeting at the home of Mrs. Irving Mutnick, of 170 Northridge Drive, Daly City, at 8:30 p.m. on Monday.

First Rummage Sale Planned

The members of Bethel Women's Missionary Council are planning their first rummage sale. Time and place will be announced later.

Persons wishing to donate rummage for the sale or interested in more information may call Mrs. Kenneth Ingham at EL 9-3197 or Mrs. Earl Banning at FL 5-2955.

Officers to Be Installed By Sodality

Mrs. William J. Sweeney Jr. of San Francisco has accepted the position of prefect of the Sodality of St. Thomas More parish for the year 1964-65.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Norman D. Wheeler of 402 Northaven Drive, Daly City, vice prefect; Mrs. James McCarty, 362 Newman Drive, South San Francisco, recording secretary; Helen Dunne, San Francisco, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Angelo Carrara, San Francisco, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed at the sodality's meeting June 9 in the parish hall.

The sodality's annual breakfast to honor outgoing officers will be held at Lakeside Olympic Club at 10 a.m. Sunday, May 24. Mrs. Carrara is in charge of the breakfast.

Monsignor Vincent I. Carroll, moderator of the sodality, will be the speaker.

Marks Will Give Speech

William Marks of Daly City, president of the assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Daly City, will be one of the speakers at the semiannual circuit assembly of Witnesses at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in San Francisco May 29-31.

Marks will appear at the assembly's opening program on a model ministry development class. The subject of his talk will be: "Helping New Ones."

Marks said that a two-hour film in color, "Proclaiming Everlasting Good News Around the World," will be shown at the convention at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 30.

Scenes from 22 countries and 36 cities will be depicted.

COMMENT

How Much Did We Lose?

A COMMUNIST VICTORY, material or in the war of propaganda, is always bad news for the free world. A Communist victory scored in our own backyard, despite ample warnings, is shaming to us.

May this bitter lesson serve to change the thinking of all those who were responsible for the Communist propaganda victory scored right here in San Mateo County when, misled by vainglorious prating of academic freedom, they invited an avowed Communist to speak and debate before students of the district junior college.

It is painful to record the details of that Communist victory, but the record is straight and clear:

Communist tactics and policy, following established pattern, succeeded with ridiculous ease. They created harsh words, harsh feelings, and harsh dissension in a political subdivision that was hitherto notable for its harmony and achievement of progress. They even succeeded in inspiring angry division within the ranks of a patriotic veterans' organization that has always been one of the bitterest foes of communism.

They led the district attorney, who was not officially concerned, into an angry personal exclamation against leaders of this veterans' group. They led the County Board of Education into a gratuitous statement of defense of the college officials who had made the original error of judgment allowing the whole hubbub to begin.

In many cases, they set friends against friends and neighbors against neighbors. They stirred the extremists of the political fringes to new shouting and gave them an arena to shout in.

THIS NEWSPAPER and other newspapers, as they must in duty to their readers, reported all this din and clamor and opened comment columns to the controversy. Radio and television added their bit to generally damaging publicity for the college and San Mateo County—whatever the views of the reader or listener.

In the light of all this the vaunted "academic freedom" turned farcical. It is highly improbable that any Communist converts were made among the college students, but they were given the spectacle of their elders involved in intemperate dispute and perhaps the ground was furrowed in an unforgettable hotbed of conflict in which Communist seeds may someday sprout.

All this need not have happened. But erroneous judgment asked for it and the Communists were happy to oblige. They must be laughing at how easily they accomplished their real objectives of setting a normal and happy American community into an uproar.

Make no mistake about it. The Communists won in this episode. The question is—how much did we lose?

Barbara Bladen

STIFF UPPER LIPS, stuffed shirts and protocol were left at home when the Spring Opera began its fourth annual season at the Opera House. Tradition was happily dumped when the newly formed Spring Opera League transformed the downstairs bar and foyer into a spring garden of colorful blooms where dinner was served prior to the 8 p.m. curtain.

The long gowns, fabulous jewels and white tie and tails that are in evidence during the fall season openings gave way to the more relaxed, springlike atmosphere of flowers in the hair and gay print gowns. Zither music accompanied the early evening festivities.

Pre-opera conversation was casual, and informal. The raging wind drove curious onlookers away from their usual people-watching posts outside the doors and at the carriage entrance.

Most of the audience was unfamiliar with Carl Maria von Weber's fairy-like tale, "Der Freischütz." But for others it was a nostalgic evening that evoked memories of childhoods in Europe.

Considered a masterpiece in German repertoire and a favorite for children, similar to "Hansel and Gretel" or "The Bartered Bride" in this country, it is as familiar to opera-goers there as it is unknown here. Few remembered that it had been performed at Stanford in 1950.

AS THE FIRST San Francisco production of the work in 50 years, it launched the season without brilliance. The melodies are pleasant but the combination of outdated dialogue and poor enunciation of the English libretto drew laughs and scowls from the audience.

Elizabeth Mosher sang admirably for her debut, especially in her second act area when, on the eve of her wedding she prays for the safety and good marksmanship of her future husband. The role affords little opportunity for showmanship, however, but the Menlo Park lyric soprano has good tonal quality and when given the chance can perform with warmth and shining clarity.

Richard Cassilly handled the vocal role superbly but was blighted by the most naive dialogue and acting since villains twirled their mustaches. The opera was written more than 100 years ago and translating it into English does little toward making it sophisticated enough for modern-day audiences.

Gwen Curatilo was pert and vivacious in a secondary role that clearly took most of the evening's honors. Malcolm Smith was properly sinister as a forest ranger who plots against the betrothed huntsman to improve his marksmanship through an illicit pact with the devil.

Wolfgang Roth evoked the ominous settings that symbolistic German operas and drama require. The inn with its stareyed deer heads and blood moon-lit devil's glen where magic bullets and curses are made create an emotionalism in keeping with the Beethovenesque austerity of the plot.

The production was subsidized by the San Francisco Foundation.

CLAUDIA SMITH is the current Miss Daly City, having won the beauty crown in last year's judging. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Smith of 71 Garden Grove Drive, Daly City, she graduated from Westmoor High School last June. Today, she is a model for the House of Charm in San Francisco, fulfilling a dream she has had since childhood of becoming a model. Claudia will relinquish her crown June 10 when Miss Daly City of 1964 is crowned at a pageant in the South San Francisco Elks Club.

Dessert All Thru Lunch

Ron Bates

I ALWAYS welcome the opportunity to go to lunch or dinner in a nice plush restaurant. I especially welcome it when someone else is picking up the tab on his expense account.

The food seems to taste so much better than when I'm footing the bill myself. I don't know if it's because the food I order is better (because it costs more) or if it's because of the absence of a continual nagging feeling throughout the meal that I won't have enough money to pay the bill.

Anyway, a lunch I had recently will have to go on record as one of the best I've had since I joined The Post. I think the thing that made it so special was the fact I had dessert throughout the meal.

The occasion was the tenth birthday of the Miss Daly City contest and the second birthday of The Post.

My company was none other than the Miss Daly City queens of the past ten years. Also present were my boss, Monte Dayton, and two guys from the Chamber of Commerce, Fred Martin and Ben Peralta.

The presence of these three gentlemen somewhat hampered my savoir faire demeanor but I really can't blame it all on them.

For example it wasn't their fault when I posed the girls for a picture and then forgot to pull the slide of the film holder. And I can understand why the girls got perturbed as it took me five solid minutes to focus in because I was turning the wrong focusing screw.

And it wasn't their fault when I leaned over to hear something one of the girls said in a low sultry voice that my tie plopped into the gravy. I explained to my wife, as best I could, that it was a clumsy waiter.

All in all, though it was a delightful lunch. It's a shame that you can have a birthday only once a year.

BEING THE RANKING Democrat in San Mateo County certainly has its problems. It's getting so that poor Leo Ryan can't even drop in for a cup of tea at a non-political occasion without starting rumors of endorsement.

It seems that Ryan's name has been constantly used in connection with one of the candidates running for the Fifth Supervisorial post being vacated by Alvin Hatch.

Releases put out by the candidate's public relations man never seemed to omit the fact that Ryan put in an appearance and in one case had Ryan working on the candidate's election committee.

What people don't seem to realize is that Ryan himself is up for election and the more he's seen the better it is for him.

The rumors became so persistent that finally last week Ryan issued a statement to the effect: "I love everybody and may the best man win."

WHEN DALY CITY Councilmen passed the peace pipe with board directors of the Cow Palace last week, it was hard to determine if what resulted was just smoke or genuine mutual sympathy.

The sparks that did occasionally flare up were quickly doused with remarks of understanding.

The paramount thing that both parties were concerned about was the upcoming Republican National Convention.

One of the directors said she had heard that civil rights supporters were recruiting volunteers in the colleges now to sit in, lie in, sleep in, stall in or limp in at the convention in July.

What concerns Daly City police is that as the matter appears now, the city's jurisdiction ends at the street where most of the demonstrations will be. This just won't work, says Chief Roland Petrocchi.

The city doesn't want the headaches if it can't take aspirins. In other words, if the police force doesn't have responsibility for the cause, it doesn't want responsibility for the effects.

The Book Shelf

SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

While no one can tell exactly which new title will become best sellers, you can take it from me that the following will make news during the summer of 1964:

Armageddon by Leon Uris, author of Exodus. This novel about Berlin during the first few years of the cold war reaches its climax with the American airlift.

The hero is Sean O'Sullivan of the military government. This title has been selected as the July offering of the Literary Guild.

The Mission by Martin Caidin and Edward Hymoff, is the sage of President Johnson's experiences during World War II as a lieutenant commander in the Navy and as a representative for President Roosevelt.

Red Carpet at the White House: here is another one of those ever-popular autobiographies of White House aides. This one is by Wiley T. Buchanan-one-time chief of protocol for President Eisenhower.

The O'Connors by Mary Astor is an inside story of television and the movies. It centers around the marriage of a talented actor and a successful actress.

Although the plot is old and the characters out of an old book, the writing promises to be crisp and new. It is scheduled for July.

The 480s by Eugene Burdick. Here is an intense novel by a master story teller. It explores the political angle.

The effects of science on government, the relationship of morality and politics and the strain of a presidential campaign get full play.

The Old God's Laugh by

Frank Yerby has a modern setting in a Caribbean country torn by revolution.

The hero is an American foreign correspondent who meets a host of characters, including a priest, a girl, and a dictator called "His Exalted Majesty."

Sargent Shriver by Robert A. Liston promises to be one of the most candid biographies of political figures during a year when political figures jockey for position.

It will be in the hands of the readers in time for the campaign should Shriver become President Johnson's running mate.

The summer of 1964 promises to be an exciting season for books. Each of the major publishers will bring out a full selection of both fiction and nonfiction.

It will be a good season for making reading a part of one's everyday life.

It Was, Indeed, A White Rabbit

Don Miller

THE BUSINESS of getting out of bed each morning and starting the day's program varies in its execution from household to household. But for most of us, there is one principle we believe in:

An uncomplicated, unfettered, no-crisis exit from the starting gate each day is the best start of all. Bar none.

One of the staunchest believers in this morning maxim is Mrs. Helen Sherwood of 128 St. Francis Boulevard, Daly City, the mother of four boys.

Now being the mother of four, Mrs. Sherwood is painfully aware that daily getaways rarely fall into the uncomplicated category. She nonetheless endeavors to keep the morning maelstrom down to minimal proportions.

The other day, however, the minimizing met a sharp reverse from a decidedly unexpected source. Since to paraphrase Mrs. Sherwood's colorful account of it all would be rendering a disservice to the art of storytelling, we'll let her do the talking.

"I WAS SITTING in the kitchen at 6:15 a.m., sipping a cup of coffee when my 15-year-old son, Bob, came up the backstairs. He had just finished his morning paper route. 'He poked his head through the kitchen doorway and asked: 'Mom, are you dressed? I brought a friend home'."

Mrs. Sherwood says she calmly steered herself for most anything and replied that she was, indeed, dressed.

"Bob came in with a half-grown bunny rabbit. I asked him where he got it and he said it had been scampering around the carports."

"Then he told me that while he was chasing it, a Daly City patrol car stopped and the officer asked him what he was doing. Bob told him: 'Sir, I'm chasing a white rabbit and if you don't believe me, look.'"

"And since there was, indeed, a white rabbit, the officer got out of his police car and proceeded to help Bob catch it."

Now here's where the story becomes a bit ironic, for you see, Helen Sherwood is a Daly City police clerk. The next chapter in this morning tale, she says, went like this:

"When I got to work that morning, I thought I'd just find out who had been working beat six, my area of the city. It was Bob Gremminger. Before he went off duty, I asked him to come upstairs from the squad room."

"I told him that normally I was a very good sport but that I really didn't appreciate him sending in uninvited breakfast guests at 6:15 in the morning.

"When he denied, rather vehemently, of doing anything like that, I asked him if he had sent in a pink-eyed, soft bundle of white fur."

"Oh my God!" he said. "Is he your boy? I really thought he was stealing hub caps. Then when he said he was chasing a white rabbit, I thought I had a 50-50 (mental) case on my hands."

WELL, OFFICERS Gremminger and Sherwood then proceeded to laugh about the whole incident although Mrs. Sherwood's mirth, she concedes, came somewhat forced.

Later on, she wasn't laughing at all after she became aware of what maintaining a residence for a rabbit entails.

"First of all, for Harvey—that's what he was christened—you have to keep an excellent supply of fresh carrot tops. Then there is parsley as a treat. Next, you need one laundry basket with an old but clean blanket."

And what did Papa Sherwood have to say about this?

"Not much, really. He just shrugged his shoulders and said that with four boys, anything can happen."

Which, as Ma Sherwood found out at 6:15 the other morning, was precisely the case.

THE CRASH of a Pacific Airlines plane in the rolling foothills of the coast range, near Concord, earlier this month had tragic overtones in Daly City.

Among the 44 who died in the crash were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marty of San Francisco, the sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Yvonne Marignac of 38 Lake Forest Drive.

Both the Martyrs were avid bowling enthusiasts and were ranked among the top leggers in the leagues in which they participated. Mrs. Marty was a member of the Keglerette team at Westlake Bowl. Her husband rolled in a league at Bagdad Bowling Alleys in San Francisco.

Together, they frequently were seen at Westlake Bowl during open bowling sessions.

They were parents of daughters Paulette and Claudette. Mrs. Marignac's daughter, Georgette, named after Mrs. Marty, is the godmother to the Marty children.

Being a godmother, according to custom, is something like being a second mother. In this tragic case, there is no longer a first and Georgette Marignac walks with a little heavier responsibility than she did before.

Peninsula Panorama

Wednesdays Are Dullsville

George Whitesell

ALL THE EVIDENCE collected in one of this department's sporadic silly surveys seems to indicate that Wednesday is the popular Peninsula choice for "Big Nothing Day."

We reached this conclusion by the reverse method since our queries on favorite days, reported here from time to time, reveal that only two persons picked Wednesday in that category.

Upon further investigation we learned that it was pay day for both of them.

The reaction to Wednesday is neither positive nor negative. Nobody much seems to be "fer it" or "agin it." The only real flaw round was imparted to us by a high school English teacher who said it appears to be the hardest day of the week to spell correctly.

THE CHANGING TIMES that have brought us a five-day work week have made Wednesday the mid week day for most Peninsulans.

It sort of hangs in the balance. By noon on Wednesday half of the week's work has been accomplished—but the other half still lies ahead.

In general, things have gotten started but nothing has been finished.

The Sunday leftovers are all gone and the kitchen engineer is apt to come up with a sort of neutral, nondescript dinner that will neither be loathed nor remembered.

If she follows the tradition of the old song she has washed on Monday and ironed on Tuesday.

On Wednesday she is supposed to scrub the floors, but the chances are she's too pooped to do anything but watch the TV.

And the rest of the week is not very promising because the old song has it that she must mend on Thursday and sweep the house on Friday.

Also, she is supposed to bake bread on Saturday, but very few housewives of this day and age are about to bake their own bread.

SO THERE she is, like everyone else, sort of suspended on Wednesday with the loose ends dangling.

It is the same for the kids. In vacation time Wednesday is like every other day, but when they are at school they have already forgotten the fun they had on the last weekend and the next one is as far away as the moon.

As for the teachers—they don't know yet whether they have had the worst day of the week or if it is still to come.

You can't call Wednesday joyful or woe-ful. The fact is—Wednesday is likely to be just plain uninteresting.

ACTUALLY, the name of Wednesday comes from the old Norse catalog of gods and is named for "Wodin" who was top god on the heap.

The ancients must have thought highly of the day because they made it "Wodnesday," from which our Anglo-Saxon "Wednesday" is derived.

However, their reason for picking this particular day is forgotten. Maybe it was payday in Valhalla.

Many businesses call Wednesday a "dull day, although a lot of them have learned to inject some life into it by specialty advertising to offset the dullness.

For this reason it has improved as a shopping day and some restaurants and hotels have perked up the luncheon trade with fashion shows.

But by nightfall the hypo has worn off. Top sponsors tend to dodge Wednesday time so the TV offerings are often indifferent.

If the gentle reader will check up he may find that he tends to get to bed earlier on Wednesday evenings than he does on the other evenings of the week.

There are probably people who just adore Wednesday and likely have good reason for it. We just didn't find any of them. And it certainly would have ruined this piece if we had.

Lipman Suit For Damages Is Dismissed

Natalie Lipman's long-standing lawsuit against county and Brisbane school officials has been dismissed by the State Supreme Court.

The suit, filed originally in August of 1958, charged the defendants with wrongfully interfering with her contract as superintendent of the Brisbane School District, forcing her to resign.

She asked $160,000 damages from the school district, three trustees and two school officials. County Supt. of Schools James R. Tormey and District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson.

Miss Lipman is superintendent of the Bayshore School District, a post she held concurrently with the Brisbane position.

The case was thrown out of Superior Court before it ever got to trial but an appeal was taken.

The District Court of Appeal ruled that the Brisbane district could not be sued but the individual defendants could. Miss Lipman was allowed to amend her complaint and she did so.

Trial was never held, however, as the defendants continued to press their right and the case was dismissed by the Supreme Court.

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson, who represented all of the defendants except one, said he was "gratified to see the end of this long-standing litigation which I have consistently maintained had no legal merit."

THE DALY CITY COLMA Democratic Club will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Garden Village School at 208 Garden Lane, Colma.

A LUNCHEON and reception, honoring Congressman James Roosevelt, will be held at Bob's on Broadway Restaurant in Burlingame at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The luncheon will be sponsored by the San Mateo Council of Democratic Clubs.

FASSLER CAMPAIGN

A DOOR-TO-DOOR campaign in behalf of Mrs. Fassler is planned throughout Daly City, campaign workers have announced.

Lineup for the Miss Daly City Contest

FIVE OF THESE lovely lasses will become finalists in the Miss Daly City contest when preliminaries are held Friday at 7 p.m. in the Westmoor Little Theatre. Lining up, left to right, on the ramp leading to the War Memorial Community Center are Rinice Phillips, Judy Gurtler, Elaine Pistoressi, Sharon Baker, Linda Blime, Sharon Martinelli, Karen Soltau, Judy Liss, Patricia Van Koll, Karen Hicks, Irene Spiteri, Della Garcia, Jo Ann Gambelin, Susann Bernard and Cathy Herlekson.

Political Notes

FORMER Assistant White House Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher appeared at the opening for the Daly City Salingor for Senator campaign headquarters at 1999 Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Hatcher said the outcome of the June primary would be decided by now-uncommitted voters.

Among those on hand for the opening were Councilman Bernard Lycett of Daly City, Attorney Dave Friedenberger and Thomas Noonan. A students-for-Salingor committee, headed by Westmoor student Sheila Stavish, passed out cookies and cake for the younger guests.

PIERRE SALINGER, primary Democratic candidate for senator, will be the guest of honor at a reception and dinner at 7 p.m. next Wednesday in the ballroom of the Thunderbird Motel.

The program will be sponsored by the University of San Francisco Alumni Committee for Salingor for Senator.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Elizabeth Brawley or Don Mayberry at the candidate's Daly City campaign headquarters.

Meanwhile, Cranston-for-Senator headquarters in Pacifica have opened at 962 Francisco Boulevard.

Among those attending the opening were Walt Golden, president of the San Mateo Council of Democratic Clubs; Mrs. Effie Solomon and George Corey, North County co-chairmen for the Cranston campaign; Phil Kaplan, chairman for the Cranston speakers bureau, and Pacifica Mayor Fred Ballew.

THE "BLUE AND GOLD Committee," a group of more than 300 University of California alumni, has launched a get-out-the-vote campaign for Joseph Verducci, candidate for San Mateo County supervisor from the fifth district.

Verducci graduated from UC in 1933 where he excelled both on the football field and in the classroom, supporters point out. Mrs. Henderson Long of Hillsborough, a longtime friend of the candidate and an alumna of UC, is serving as chairman of the committee.

MRS. LOUIS JOHNSON, Mrs. Katherine Mullen and Mrs. Stella Jensen are serving as co-chairmen of Jean Fassler's fifth district supervisory campaign in Daly City. They are being assisted by Mrs. Helen Morton. Co-ordinator for volunteers is Ernie Bloom.

Bus Petition Is Received

The Daly City Council is considering a new petition for the extension of San Francisco Muni bus service into the city.

It was received from residents in the Southern Hills Subdivision and bears 576 signatures.

Councilman Francis Pacelli said the Southern Hills area will be included in a study of possible routes that will be submitted to the San Francisco carrier. Negotiations for extension of Muni bus lines into Daly City have been delayed because of the death of Robert Kirkwood, general manager of San Francisco's public utilities system, Pacelli explained.

D.C. Rotary to Hear Dr. Foster

Dr. Richard L. Foster, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District, will be the speaker at today's noon luncheon session of the Rotary Club of Daly City at Serra Bowl. He will discuss public education and some of its intricacies.

RADIO TAKEN

John Spinetti of 68 Woodrow Street, Daly City, reported to police last week that a transistor radio had been stolen from his auto, parked in front of his home.

A preliminary budget of $6,533,073 was adopted by South San Francisco Unified School District trustees last week to operate their schools during 1964-65.

The current budget is $6,299,256.

Board Chairman Roger Hanson noted that the total increase was limited to $233,817, despite individual hikes totaling $1,056,000.

The additions, he commented repeatedly as the board worked its way through a two-hour item by item review, are mainly salary increases.

There was no comment as to the possible effect on local school tax rates, if the budget remains the same in July as it stands now.

The district's capital outlay budget was cut 25 per cent from this year's cost, to $150,000, "because there is no more money," Hanson noted that capital outlay requests for this year had totaled $410,000.

Still due for further consideration are staff changes recommended by special consultant Dr. Schuyler Joiner, and requests listed on Superintendent Dr. Paul Neilsen's "second priority" budget.

This includes badly needed new personnel, he said, and other items eliminated from the preliminary budget because of economy.

According to a brief review, Dr. Joiner's plan would replace an administrative assistant superintendent for business with a district accountant and a purchasing agent, and replace a supervisor of maintenance and operations with a district engineer.

This would create a savings of $1,027, Dr. Joiner said, and provide several benefits, with three employees instead of two.

Among the described advantages would be the convenience of having one man do all the purchasing, and having a district engineer to oversee all buildings and grounds as well as work with contractors and architects on new structures or repairs.

The adopted budget, commented Trustee James Stauffer, includes a new assistant principal at South San Francisco High School. Superintendent Nielsen explained this is necessary because of increased attendance there.

The administrative section of the budget is up $31,000, with pay increases, the new assistant principal, a new clerk, two elections at $3,000 each, and $2,000 more for district printing.

Instruction costs are up $941,000 because of new teachers, increases in teacher pay allotted by the board, and teacher pay increases due to added experience and skills. Some $38,000 alone will be granted this year to 95 teachers who have acquired Master's degrees.

Health services showed an increase of $1,000, despite increase in student population, because a recently hired nurse is at a lower pay scale than a previous one.

Costs of pupil transportation are expected to rise by only about $4,500 mainly by using district buses instead of char equipment for many events.

Operational costs are up $53,000 in the tentative budget, due again to a $37,000 increase in salaries, and the operation of new facilities including a second swimming pool, the new Little Theatre, and the new Monte Verde school.

Maintenance and plant operation is expected to decrease slightly, but the district's "fixed costs" show an increase of $22,000.

This is due, said Dr. Neilsen, to the added insurance and retirement costs, resulting from extra personnel.

Food services will show a $15,000 rise, because of salary hikes, and community services will jump from last year's $19,000 to an estimated $32,000.

The increase, it was explained, is largely due to the second swimming pool, which is now to be opened at El Camino High School. This will be operated this summer for public recreational swimming and for Red Cross lifesaving courses, Dr. Nielsen said.

MONEY STOLEN

Faye Saue of 1 Cerro Drive, Daly City, reported to police last week that $80 had been stolen from his auto, parked in his garage.

Dr. DANIEL LOVE
Takes New Post

D.C. Chemist Assumes Post

Dr. Daniel L. Love, of 43 Highland Avenue, Daly City, a chemist at the U. S. Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory in San Francisco for almost nine years and program leader for the nuclear chemistry programs since early 1960, has been chosen to head the Applied Research Branch of the Chemical Technology Division.

The branch research will be concerned mainly with the determination of the radiological safety aspects of future nuclear-propelled space vehicles. Dr. Love went to the Navy laboratory in 1955 upon receipt of his doctorate degree in chemistry from Penn State University.

For the past two years, Dr. Love has taught a science class one evening a week to fifth and sixth grade students at Christopher Columbus School in Westlake.

D.C. Bicyclist Fractures Leg

A 10-year-old Daly City boy suffered a fractured left leg last Wednesday evening when his bicycle and an auto collided at Templeton Avenue and Winchester Street.

The youngster, Frank L. Martini of 388 Winchester, was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco and then transferred to Kaiser in San Francisco.

Police identified the driver of the auto as Richard A. Price, 52, 773 Templeton.

Serve a Pretty Summer Supper on Your Patio Hot From the Kitchen Broiler

A pretty summer supper hot from the broiler can be served on the porch or patio. Delicate pink lean cooked ham is rolled with slices of golden cheese and centered on the heat-proof tray. Spooned around the ham are cooked buttered green lima beans. Instant mashed potatoes pushed from a tablespoon form the ruffled collar around the edge. The entire supper of meat and cheese, potatoes, and vegetable is popped under the broiler just long enough to melt the cheese and brown the potatoes lightly.

BROILED HAM-CHEESE TRAY

Yield: 4 servings
8 slices cooked ham
8 slices pasteurized process American cheese
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen lima beans
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 packet instant mashed potatoes (about 2 cupfuls reconstituted)
Paprika

Remove cheese from refrigerator to bring to room temperature. Cook lima beans as directed on the package adding the dill weed to the salted water used for cooking. Drain and add butter. Place a slice of cheese on each slice of ham. Roll each and fasten with a wooden pick. Arrange ham rolls in center of heat-proof platter. Spoon drained lima beans around ham rolls. Prepare potatoes as directed on package. Using a tablespoon measure, spoon mashed potatoes around the edge of the platter. Brush potatoes lightly with milk and sprinkle with paprika. Place platter under broiler or in very hot oven to brown potatoes lightly and melt the cheese.

Place boneless fresh pork roast in deep pan. Combine all remaining ingredients. Pour marinade over roast and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Turn roast occasionally. Place on spit and fasten securely with prongs. Brush with marinade. Insert rotisserie type thermometer, if desired. Rotisserie-cook over low charcoal heat or in rotisserie oven until the meat thermometer reads 185 degrees, or until all pink color has disappeared when a small slit is cut into center of meat. Plan on about 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Remove strings and place on carving board or platter. Serve with baked potatoes.

IT'S PRESIDENT'S WEEK AT MAYFAIR!

...with a special message for you from our boss, J. Earl Garrett...

READ WHAT J. EARL GARRETT,
MAYFAIR'S PRESIDENT, SAYS ABOUT MAYFAIR'S
EXCLUSIVE BLUE RIBBON STEER BEEF!

"Our experience in the food business has taught us that meat makes the meal. We've learned that Mayfair customers usually select their meat purchases first, and then buy other foods to complete the meal.

"Guided by this fact, we have worked for years to make Mayfair's meat program the very best in the areas we serve. We have set our own high standards for the feeder and packer to follow in the production of the meat we require. We have trained our meat buyers to select only top quality beef, judged by high specifications developed at Company Headquarters. All meat must bear the Mayfair Blue Ribbon stamp of approval before it is offered to you.

"Besides having the finest meat, we are able to consistently sell Mayfair Blue Ribbon Meats at substantial savings to you, our customers. We think you'll agree that Mayfair Blue Ribbon Meats do make a better meal!"

Sure to Please Is Curry and Rice

Like fingerprints, tastes in curry seem to vary with the individual. The cook of India makes her own curry powder, and may pulverize from five to fifty different ingredients to obtain just the precise flavor she wants for a particular dish. In other countries such precision is not required; prepared curry powder will do the trick. But the foods to be curried, the amount of spice used and the accompaniments are subject to wide variation. Two facts do not seem to change, however: curries are popular, and are always accompanied by rice.

The reason for the latter fact is simple. Whether the curry is hair-curling hot or subtle as a hint, the bland flavor of rice sets it off ideally. Rice adds to the attraction of the dish, too, with its contrasting texture and compatible color — snowy white or delicate yellow as in the Saffron Rice below.

Lamb Curry With Bananas is a Caribbean version of the classic Indian curry. Bananas as the single accompaniment and saffron rice (yellow rice) give it the island touch.

Lamb Curry With Bananas

1 cup thinly sliced onion	2 whole cloves
1/2 cup chopped green pepper	Dash of ground mace
1 small clove garlic, minced	2 1/2 to 3 cups cooked lamb, cubed
3 tablespoons olive oil, butter or margarine	3 bananas, sliced about 1/2-inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups meat stock or bouillon
1/2 cup tomato sauce
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 large bay leaf
1 pinch thyme

Cook onion, green pepper, and garlic in 2 tablespoons oil until golden. Sprinkle on flour, stir until well blended. Add meat stock, simmer until thick and smooth. Add tomato sauce, parsley and seasonings; simmer about 15 minutes. Stir in the meat and let stand in the sauce — preferably overnight but at least an hour. Shortly before serving, cook banana slices in remaining oil. Cook lamb mixture just long enough to heat it through. Serve over Saffron Rice and garnish with the sauteed banana slices. To prepare Saffron Rice, combine ingredients in a saucepan. Heat to boiling. Stir, cover, and cook over low heat until rice is tender, about 15 minutes. 6 servings.

Cooling Coffee Treat for Summer

On a hot summer day, all you need is a single thought: keeping cool. One fine way to outwit the temperature is simply to serve coffee iced rather than hot. Then accompany the frosty coffee with light, sweet refreshment. Just right for the summer kaffeeklatsch are these delicate Coffee Almond Blossoms. Even the name has a refreshing ring.

Food, Smoke Combination Dangerous?

OLYMPIA, Wash.—A theory that rich food and the carbon monoxide in cigarette smoke may kill when teamed up in a victim's body is being tested by a scientist working in the basement of the State Public Health building here.

Dr. George Spendlove, of the research section of the State Health Department, said his experiments on chickens so far have appeared to substantiate his theory but he emphasized the study was far from completed.

"I have really just begun to scratch the surface," Spendlove said in an interview. "I don't know if this will prove anything. It may produce results and it may not."

He said scientists have been concerned for years with a condition called atherosclerosis in which the victim's blood vessels slowly fill up with fat. Most persons who have studied the condition believe rich, fatty foods contribute to the malady.

But, Spendlove said, atherosclerosis also is apparently part of the aging process and everyone contracts the condition eventually if he lives long enough.

In some persons, atherosclerosis may lead to a heart attack and to possible death. Others can live apparently healthy lives in spite of the condition, he said.

So the purpose of the research was to find out if there were any outside factors which acted upon the blood vessel condition to produce heart attacks.

One such influence may be carbon monoxide, Spendlove said.

To find out, he used several white leghorn roosters. Half of the birds were fed heavy fats until they developed atherosclerosis. The other half remained normal.

Then Spendlove grouped the roosters into four pens. Half of

COFFEE ALMOND BLOSSOMS

2 egg whites
1 1/2 sugar
1 tablespoon instant coffee powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup thinly sliced blanched almonds
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Beat egg whites stiff. Combine sugar, coffee and salt; add gradually, while continuing to beat. Fold in almonds and almond extract. Drop by teaspoons, far apart, on greased cookie sheets. Bake at 35 degrees for 15 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from cookie sheets at once. Makes about 3 dozen.

the population of each pen suffered from atherosclerosis.

The next step was to subject the roosters to various concentrations of carbon monoxide.

One cage got a concentration of 2,000 parts per million. All the birds in that pen eventually died but Spendlove said all the roosters with atherosclerosis died before any of the birds without the condition.

Meanwhile, the three surviving pens of birds are still getting periodic doses of carbon monoxide.

Spendlove explained human beings can be subjected to whiffs of carbon monoxide, which in high enough concentrations is deadly, without help from anything else, from a variety of sources.

He said one of the most common ways to get repeated doses of the gas is through cigarette smoke. He said, although pipe and cigar smoke also contains carbon monoxide, less of the gas is absorbed into the body of the smoker.

Dr. Spendlove said he had not intended to talk about his project until it was completed, probably a year or more from now. But the story came to light when other employees in the Public Health Building commented on the poultry in the basement.

If the experiment achieves its purpose, Spendlove said, medical science will know a little bit more about why heart attacks sometimes strike people who appear to be in good health.

LazybonesCookout
For Eager Eaters

Two elements for a successful cookout—eager eaters, effort meager. The eager eaters are always buzzing around. The effort meager is part and parcel of the menu.

Leading off plans for a lazybones cookout are Ham-Pineapple Kabobs. For these, alternately string pineapple chunks, green pepper squares and marinated ham cubes on skewers. The marinade: A mixture of pineapple juice seasoned to taste with soy sauce, lemon juice, brown sugar and the ground spices—cloves, dry mustard, ginger. Cooking time: about 15 minutes, brushing with marinade as kabobs are turned.

Cooking time for Herbed French Fries and mixed vegetables is about 25 minutes. For four eager eaters, turn out a package each of frozen French fries and mixed vegetables onto individual squares of foil wrap. Season each to taste, butter the vegetables, wrap securely, place on grill. Turn packages every 5 minutes. For piping hot, toasted Sesame rolls, 5 minutes on a hot spot atop the grill will do.

Sesame Rolls

2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon toasted sesame seeds
4 oblong French rolls

Combine butter and sesame seeds. Cut French rolls in half, horizontally. Spread sesame butter on cut sides of rolls. Place halves on a foil pan. Toast over hot coals until crisp. Yield: 4 servings.

Shortcake Just
Thing for Season

Back home, June was strawberry time. It was also time for the strawberry social on the great lawn of the church yard. It is easy to recall those soft summer evenings, Japanese lanterns aglow in the June night, the entrancing fragrance of rambler roses and new-cut grass, the laughter and chatter of people at ease.

At that long table over there, help yourself to a big portion of old-fashioned strawberry shortcake and crown it with a cap of whipped cream from the bowl. Or maybe you'd rather have pouring cream from that pitcher near the coffee urn. Slice it over the sweet red berries, let it run down the sides. Pick up a cup of hot coffee in the other hand and we'll enjoy these treasures at a little table under the maple trees.

Ice Cream
Once Delight
Of Emperors

The cold figures relating to consumption in California of that frosty delight, ice cream with its myriad flavors and ways of serving, were recently released by W. B. Woodburn, manager, Dairy Council of California. They give a clear indication that this fabulous dairy product continues to hold the esteem of millions as the dessert favorite of all time.

Last year, men, women and children living in or visiting our Golden State had the chilling experience of downing more than 60 million gallons of real ice cream. Besides that they proceeded to swallow, thereby demolishing, mountains of sherbet, imitation ice cream and ice milk. That's a lot of good eating and is one more good reason for waxing eloquent over the prodigious bounty of California's bovines as we celebrate June Dairy Month.

Royal Ancestry Traced

Ice cream boasts of royal lineage according to historians. Once it was considered a desert fit only for a king, and in democratic America where every man is his own king, it is still in this category. As early as 62 A.D. Rome's Emperor Nero started the ball rolling when he had runners bring snow from the Appenines to the Eternal City where it was quickly flavored with nectar, fruit pulp and honey for serving, of course, only to royalty. In the 17th century, Charles I of England bought the secret of a more modern version of ice cream from a French chef and kept the delicacy strictly for his royal table.

American History

Once the secret was out and arrived in America the popularity of ice cream and similar confections spread with the speed of lightning. The announcement that ice cream would be served daily in a New Orleans coffee house rated a front page story in the Louisiana Courier in 1808. Dolly Madison jumped on the bandwagon with vigor in 1812 by serving it at the White House on the auspicious occasion of the Inaugural Ball.

OLD-FASHIONED STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

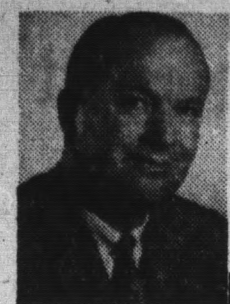

2 cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 egg, slightly beaten
1-3 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 qt. strawberries, sliced and sweetened
Whipping cream

Combine biscuit mix and sugar; cut in shortening. Combine egg and cream. Add. Stir with fork until dough gathers in a soft ball. Roll out about ½-inch thick on floured surface.

TOASTED WALNUTS

Walnuts have wonderful flavor when you toast them! To do so spread the halves or large pieces in a shallow pan and place in a moderate oven for about 10 minutes; stir several times. Use the toasted walnuts as garnishes for a cake frosting or mixed into a cheese spread to offer with crackers.

The first commercial ice cream plant was established in 1851 in Baltimore. The ubiquitous ice cream cone, now sold annually by the billions, was introduced in 1904 at the St. Louis World's Fair and from there on production and varieties skyrocketed.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Luz Garcia's Sinaloa Famed for 30 Years

For over 30 years, Luz Garcia's Sinaloa has been considered the world over as a San Francisco "must." Here, out-of-town and state visitors may enjoy an authentic "trip to Mexico."

The Powell Street cantina started out as a five-table Mexican restaurant—with Luz Garcia waiting table at a very young age. Within two years, Miss Garcia purchased the restaurant, and she has held the "pink slip" ever since.

The Sinaloa's fame was established for serving Mexican food featuring recipes by Mercedes Valenzuela, Luz' mother. Later, to enliven the scene, a strolling guitarist was engaged.

With an eye for future business, Luz Garcia decided to add a floor show to her now thriving restaurant. This was accomplished by the purchase of the entire building.

That was back in 1937. Through the passing years, the Sinaloa has been remodeled and enlarged without changing the authentic old country appeal.

Today, the same delicious Mexican recipes are featured, plus an all Latin floor show which is presented three times each evening (except Sunday); dancing intermittently. No cover charge for those having dinner. Food and cocktails served from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m., Monday through Saturday.

SPECIAL, LATE-NIGHT TV FANS: John Boyjan, star of motion pictures in the 30's and 40's, is currently the well-qualified matre d' at George Mardikian's Omar Khayyam's restaurant in San Francisco. John is still as handsome as ever.

John Boyjan

Moviemakers in that day are sure to recognize him... The Galaxie on SF's Broadway, where the sensational "Swim" dance originated and was first introduced, is a hectic place these weekends — SRO mobs to see and hear the Nooney Rickett Four, Singer Joni Lyman and "Swim" dance doll Judy Mac... Autumn Lee, beautiful exotic dancer at the Moulin Rouge, has been going to California and dancing only one or two eves a week at the Moulin. With school about over, Autumn is now revealing every night—good, good!

ELAINE AND PIERRE FILANC are now presenting their "food with a personality" in a new hour bracket. Tuesday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 12 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Restaurant is not open Sunday or Monday (Restaurant's fishing and hunting hours)... You'll travel far to find a restaurant as "Frenchy" as the Burlingame La Touraine. The menu, as well as the personnel, reflect Gay Paree... Joe's of Westlake will have a new restaurant record to break next Mother's Day. Last Sunday far exceeded all previous years... The San Francisco New Tivoli is one of the few restaurants where one may enjoy a seven course Italian dinner which starts in a price range of $2... Exotic drinks and a menu with a true island theme has been the Lanai's feature for many years. A romantic dining spot for young and young in heart...

Pierre Filanc

KEITH WILLIAMSON, the Burlingame restaurant "magician," suggests that you let him prepare "one for the road" (the "one" being a bucket of chicken that tastes just as good cold as it does hot) for your out-of-town trips. I do just that on my weekly trips to the Tahoe area. It's like having a picnic... Gerald Wilson and his all-star 18-piece orchestra, plus singer Lorez Alexandria, will be featured in a dance-concert for one night only, Friday, May 29, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Continental Ballroom of the new Hilton Hotel at Mason and O'Farrell in San Francisco... A Third Avenue musical fun time: The organ bar music of Adele Rich at Earl's "House of Fine Foods"... Understand Nick Gust has added another restaurant to his large operations. After a weekend visit here, your Bright Lighter will fill you in on the details. This guy moves faster than an Internal Revenue agent's Ball Point pen...

Classical Ballet

To Strip Tease

At Finocchio's

Regardless of one's preference for a certain kind of dancing, it's pretty sure to be found at Finocchio's in San Francisco. It ranges from classical ballet, as offered by Reggie Dahl in his impersonation of a French Ballerina, to Stormy Lee's flourescent dancing in a colorful strip-tease number, Juan Jose's dynamic Spanish dancing as a senorita, and Francis Blair's very funny version of the strip-tease as it was done in the 90's. Thus, dancers add to the remarkable variety of entertainment for which Finocchio's is noted.

Gary Schumacher of the Giants was seen devouring a juicy steak at Bertolucci's restaurant, the other evening.

Had a late dinner—midnight—few eves ago at Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery and thought how nice to be able to get such a splendid dinner at that late hour.

Sign on the rear bumper of a car parked in front of the Brentwood Lodge: "Buy American" on a Volkswagen.

Price and food wise, Moar's Cafeteria is hard to beat. Especially the full course turkey, baked ham, and farm fried chicken dinners (from $1.75 to $2—soup to dessert).

Enrico Romano, the Pacifica "pizza baron," reported the following sign on a cleaner's shop in San Mateo: "Women's Sweaters Sized To Men's Sighs."

Nice report from the Charn Garden regarding business on Mother's Day. This is a beautiful place to take mother any day or evening of the week.

DONNA THEODORE
Caravan Inn

Donna Theodore Talented Miss

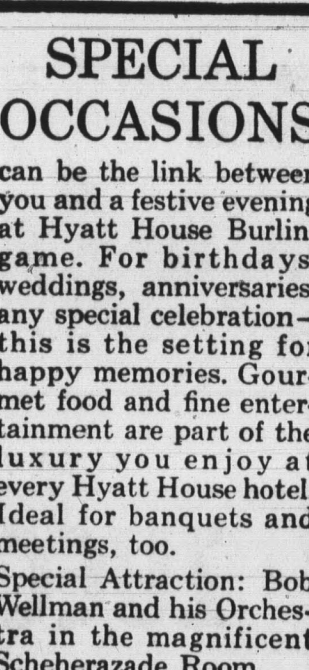

Betty Sedam, general manager of the Mountain View Caravan Inn, has acquired a "talented eye" for booking acts into the "inn" that prove an immediate cash register hit. With the assistance of Al King, local booking agent, Betty was able to ink Donna Theodore, a striking, dark-haired beauty with a tape-busting figure where measurements count, for a limited engagement. Donna's talents include dance routines of her own creation, clever ad libbing with ringersiders, and a singing talent that's far above the ordinary.

Also sharing top billing is the Nob Hill Trio. If you like to dance, this group is your "cup of tea." Once they tune up and take off with both old and new tunes, you'll find yourself on the dance floor livin' it up.

Excellent food — breakfast, luncheon, dinner and late-night snacks.

Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto will present a new gift shop to the tourists this season — and it's a beauty. Gifts for any occasion.

The second edition of the Oakland Holiday Inn revue, "Holiday in Paris," continues to attract new faces to the East Bay dinner-house. Showtimes: 8:30 p.m. and 11:30 p.m.; Sundays, 7:30 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. No cover charge, except on Saturday.

Sheraton-Villa

Dine Out Treat

Enjoyed a delicious dinner at the popular Sheraton-Villa, the other evening, in the company of General Manager Frank Dennison. His menu suggestion (and I thank you, sir) was Poitrine de Pintade Sous Cloche (breast of Guinea Hen under glass en Casserole Mornay). Add a Caesar Salad for a starter and a dessert of Cherry Jubilee prepared by "Walter," the Sheraton's culinary expert, and you will have enjoyed one of the best dinners of your life.

You're sure to enjoy dinner to the last fried bean at Pancho's in Redwood City. Service seven days a week—luncheon and dinner.

The John Inzerellas celebrated their first wedding anniversary with a dinner party at Lew Lehr's in the Marina. Mrs. Inzerellas is Jodi of the DiMaggio clan.

Bus Service

To Barney's

Continues

Even though summer is at hand, Barney O'Malia, the Lake Tahoe (South Shore) casino owner, is continuing the regular Greyhound Bus schedule to his Barney's Casino. The territory is already starting to bulge with an early tourist "crop." According to all reports, this should be one of the biggest seasons on record for this Nevada playland. Those who haven't been in the area for some time are in for a building surprise. The Lake Tahoe (South Shore) skyline has almost doubled since last year.

Phil Rauscher, general manager of the International Inn Restaurant, personally oversees dining and banquet activities.

Service and excellent food in an atmosphere conducive to appreciative dining sums up Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant.

HAWAII IS in the air at Skyline Plaza Shopping Center as the time grows near for the center's Hawaiian Holiday grand award drawing. To help celebrate the center's third anniversary, Skyline merchants are giving away a week's vacation for two in Honolulu, plus $150 expense money. In addition, seven other bonus awards will be made, including a weekend for two in Las Vegas, barbecue sets, plus men's and women's wrist watches. Shown above are beauty operators from George's Beauty Salon, portraying the "Royal Hawaiian" atmosphere that awaits Skyline Plaza customers.

PRICED FROM $275

The Honda Sports 50's price is only half the story. It's a gas sipper: 200 mpg. Flashy but sturdy: over 50 mph from 4-stroke 50cc OHV engine. Other virtues: 4-speed transmission, manual clutch, cam-type brakes. Sheer fun to own.
